WHY ISN'T MY HOME SELLING?

1026 Antelope Trail

Temple, TX 76504 · Atascosa Estates · MLS #628415

TEMPLE · ~2 WEEKS ON MARKET

$319,000 · no cuts yet

Listed Oct 22, 2026 · early in the run · watch new-build competition under $290k

Findings at a glance

Still early in this listing run. Listed Oct 22, 2026 at $319,000 (MLS #628415) with no price cuts found. About 14–15 days on market as of Nov 5, 2026 — too soon to treat “not selling” as a failure; this check-up is about positioning.

Ask sits above Temple’s median list and above nearby new-build asks. Temple median list was about $280,000 in the Realty.com market panel (Oct 2026). Nearby 2026 new builds on Campbelton Dr advertise roughly $261k–$287k for 4/2 homes ~1,859–1,922 sf (ezhomesearch nearby list) — different product, but they set a lower entry point buyers will see.

Tax assessment is above the ask (unusual). Assessor feed on Realty.com shows 2025 assessed total $384,580 with tax billed ~$6,137; BHHS/ezhomesearch show ~$6,490 tax. List price $319,000 is below that assessed figure — so the friction is less "tax says it's cheaper" and more "buyers comparing to newer/cheaper inventory."

What is working on paper. 2022 build, open family room, covered patio, custom exterior lighting, ~25 minutes to Fort Cavazos per remarks, and financing terms include Conventional, FHA and VA.

Suggested next steps

1. Track the first 30 days before over-correcting
   At ~2 weeks, the evidence supports watchfulness more than panic. Revisit showings, feedback and nearby new-build absorption at day 30.

2. Arm buyers with payments at $319k (and optional alternate prices)
   The paired Buyer's Kit shows Conventional 20%, Conventional 5%, FHA and VA illustrations so Linda can answer “what does this cost per month?” immediately.

3. Keep the interactive seller tool handy
   Why Isn't My House Selling? helps the seller self-check marketing and pricing without inventing condition problems.

4. Watch Campbelton / new-build competition
   If those lower-priced 2026 builds keep coming, a pricing or incentive conversation may be needed even though the subject is only ~2 weeks old.
